Project: Postl-Yore and Associates was retained by the Village of Bloomingdale to provide Phase I, II, and III Architectural services for the rehabilitation of the Village's iconic historical building which is known as the Old Bloomingdale School.

The Architectural staff of Postl-Yore provided Phase I review and preliminary design of the Villages first schoolhouse which was constructed in 1891.

Postl-Yore provided Phase II Architectural Design Services based on the evaluation and preliminary design completed in Phase I. Staff was tasked with designing and preparing bid documents for the rehabilitation of the school house to meet current Village codes. In addition interior and exterior improvements were completed. These improvements also included an addition for a new bathrooms and equipment room.

Postl-Yore also provided Phase III Architectural Construction Services for this project. Included in the phase III services was the review of project submittals and pay requests, on-site meetings with the Management and Contractor, and periodic on-site observation.
